NEW INFORMATION

This booklet completely replaces, up-dates and expands upon a limited circulation pamphlet originally issued by the author in 1994, before the additional link with the Tylcoats was established.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I am very grateful to David John Tylcoat for furnishing all his research into the link with his branch of the family, for his additional research on other aspects, for his invaluable work in establishing a comprehensive data-base covering all our pooled information on Talcotts, Tylecotes & Tylcoats and for his assistance in checking this booklet.

AIM

This write-up is intended for use by those already familiar with Sebastian Visscher Talcott's book: "Talcott Pedigree in England and America from 1558 to 1876" (Weed Parsons & Company, Albany, New York, 1876).

OBJECTIVE

The purpose is to demonstrate to any Americans interested in the early history of their family that, contrary to the presumption on page 21 of S V Talcott's book, the direct family line still survives in England, and that S V Talcott himself became aware of this in 1885, nine years after publication of his book.

INTRODUCTION

After John Talcott sailed from England to America in 1632, to found the whole American line, it would seem that the English branch eventually not only lost touch with their American relations but also even awareness of their existence. However, to-day, we know that, almost by chance, this situation was remedied over 100 years ago, in 1885. Between about 1860 and 1890 much work on the history of this family was carried out on both sides of the Atlantic. Interest then seems to have waned again. It was not until 1992 that the writer, who had inherited all the Tylecote family's historical papers, including a copy of S V Talcott's book, realised that many Talcotts in America to-day probably still believe, as S V Talcott wrote, that their English line had died out around 300 years ago. It seemed appropriate, and long overdue, to do something by way of correcting the matter.

BACKGROUND

By coincidence the English and American branches seem to have started investigating our family history around the same time, the 1860s, but entirely independently. By 1884 Dr Edward Thomas Tylecote of Staffordshire had produced a draft pedigree of the English side, going right back to the 1500s. At that stage he was evidently still unaware of the American side and there is no mention of it in the pedigree itself or in his supporting notes.

The break-through came the following year, 1885. That year, as we know from his original letters in our possession, S V Talcott in America was looking through an old set of bound copies of the London Illustrated News, covering the period July to December 1882, when he spotted an obituary of Rev. Canon Thomas Tylecote, of Marston Moreteyne, Bedfordshire. He knew, from his research for his 1876 book, there had been numerous different spellings of the name in England. The obituary contained sufficient detail to make it clear to S V Talcott that Rev. Thomas Tylecote was indeed a lost relative and hence the English line had, after all, continued.

The obituary mentioned that Rev. Thomas was Hon. Canon of Ely so S V Talcott decided, probably after consulting his friend the Right Rev. Bishop of Albany New York, to try to establish contact by writing to the Bishop of Ely. His letter eventually found its way to Rev. Thomas' third son, Edward Ferdinando Sutton Tylecote, then living in London, England.

Sutton Tylecote (as he was known) and S V Talcott then corresponded. S V Talcott sent over a copy of his 1876 book, probably the same one still in our possession to-day. Sutton Tylecote was also in touch with Dr Edward Thomas Tylecote in Staffordshire and knew all about his 1884 pedigree. It was quickly clear to all three of them that the English and American families were one and the same.

On the English side further research continued for a few years, adding a considerable amount of detail to the early records. Sutton Tylecote's sister Elizabeth Margaret Beaufort Tylecote (known as Margaret) put in much work. She and Sutton also had help from some professionals, from the College of Heralds, the Public Record Office and the British Museum. Sutton Tylecote sent over a notebook to S V Talcott, full of information about baptisms, burials, wills etc. which, after extracting details, was later sent back.

From the correspondence it seems S V Talcott died in late 1888 or early 1889, unfortunately without, as far as we know, issuing any correction or new edition of his book, concerning the fact that the English line had continued after all. Dr Edward Thomas Tylecote, of the 1884 pedigree, died in 1895. Sutton Tylecote and his sister Margaret were younger but nevertheless seem to have stopped their family history work around the same time. Margaret died in 1936 and Sutton in 1938.

After Margaret Tylecote's death all the family history documents were sent to the writer's father, Prof. Frank Edward Tylecote of Manchester, England. He simply stored them and, on his death in 1965, they passed to his eldest son Ronald Frank Tylecote, the writer's half-brother. In 1989 Ronald passed them to the writer. Ronald died in 1990.

The writer possessed a photo-copy of the 1884 pedigree and, by 1989, was already well advanced with creation of his own loose-leaf reference system of Tylecote history, purely for internal family use. However, the mass of additional documents obtained from Ronald greatly extended this project. Eventually, in 1990, copies were issued to some immediate members of our English family.

Later in 1990 the writer found an entry under the name Tylcoat in the telephone book for Cambridge, England. A letter was sent, with return envelope, but there was no reply.

In 1993 the writer found, via a Canadian relation who had visited Salt Lake City, that the Family History Library of the Church of Latter Day Saints had S V Talcott's 1876 book on their computer records. In response to the information provided by the writer they placed a notice against page 21 about the continued existence of the family in England. However they said it would be difficult to add this to the microfilm versions available through their other family history centres. One solution suggested was that the writer should prepare a manuscript which they would then make available throughout their organisation. That is what prompted the pamphlet issued by the author in 1994. A copy duly went to Salt Lake City and, at their suggestion, to the Library of Congress in Washington and to the New England Historic Genealogical Society in Boston. Apart from that the circulation was mainly to a few members of the English family.

Later in 1994 the writer was greatly surprised to receive a telephone call from a David John Tylcoat of Umberleigh, Devon, England, who was just starting to investigate his own family history! It transpired that the Tylcoat in Cambridge, written to in 1990, was his divorced mother. The writer had not found David himself in 1990 because his telephone was in his business name.

A meeting was quickly arranged, at which the writer gave Dave Tylcoat a complete copy of the, by now, 200 plus page file about the Tylecote side. Right from our first contact it seemed clear to both that we must be related. Dave soon acquired a computer and set to work with tremendous energy, researching his Tylcoat line and looking for the link. In the process he also unearthed some additional Tylecote material and spurred the writer to do the same. Within a year or so from our first meeting the link was established, but right back at the beginning of our knowledge, around 1500. Addition of the Tylcoat line is therefore the most important factor prompting issue of this booklet. After all the work that has been put in we are now completely convinced there are no further surviving English direct Talcott, Tylecote or Tylcoat lines to be discovered. In England, in marked contrast to America, we are a very small family indeed with, at the time of writing, only 7 living male Tylecotes and 1 living male Tylcoat resident in the country!

Dave Tylcoat has now built up what is undoubtedly the most accurate and comprehensive computer record in existence on the genealogy of the English Tylecotes and Tylcoats, including their direct relationship to the American Talcotts. He has used the powerful American Reunion genealogical program, in which every single person, of whom there is any record whatever, can be accessed by a unique number. For convenience these numbers are included for all individuals mentioned in the following pages. Dave also has copies or transcriptions of wills, register entries and other material. He has a Web Site on the Internet. Details for accessing his material are provided, with other contact addresses, on page 44.

The original Tylecote source material, much of which is now incorporated into Dave Tylcoat's computer records, has been passed by the writer, for safe keeping, to his half-nephew Prof. Andrew Tylecote of Sheffield, England (Ronald Tylecote's eldest son), whose address is also provided.

SPELLING THE FAMILY NAME

Over 90 different spellings have now been identified amongst the early English records. We know they are all the same family because it has been possible to check sufficient dates, forenames, relationships and locations. Also, on the Tylecote side, the family coat of arms granted in Essex and used there in the 1600s has been handed down, right through to the present day, even though not re-registered with the College of Arms. In the early days one can, for example, find the same person's name recorded in several different versions, at baptism, marriage, baptism of their children and burial. This problem is common to the early history of many English families. At a time when many people were still unable to read and write it is easy to see that much will have depended upon interpretation, by officials responsible for keeping registers, of the pronunciation used by any particular individual or family branch.

Talcott was just one of many versions current in 1632, when John Talcott sailed from England to Boston and founded the whole American line. This seems always to have remained the mainstream American spelling, although S V Talcott mentions some American families using Tallcot. In England, no doubt as literacy improved, the multiple versions declined until, by around 1800, only Tylecote and Tylcoat survived.

With hindsight it seems likely that this problem of multiple early spellings of the name was a major factor in S V Talcott's failure to trace any English survivors after about 1700. We know it also caused difficulties for Dr Edward Thomas Tylecote, Sutton Tylecote and Margaret Tylecote, particularly before, for example, they established the link between Talcotts in Essex and Tilecoats in Leicestershire.

THE COAT OF ARMS

Theoretically it seems likely that all proven direct male descendants of the John Talcott (also recorded as Taylcott & Taylecott), who lived at Colchester, Essex, England from about 1535 to 1606 would be entitled to the coat of arms, i.e. they are armigerous. However, this has never been pursued, from generation to generation, by submitting all necessary documentation to the College of Arms, thus making it almost impossible to re-establish officially. The version shown in S V Talcott's book is very similar to those handed down through the Tylecote side. All have a griffin surmounting a shield incorporating three roses arranged vertically, as on the cover of this booklet. The only significant difference is that S V Talcott gives the motto as "Virtus sola nobilitas" (for which we do not know the source) whereas all the other versions have "Fortiter et Candide". It seems the mottoes would in any case have been a matter of personal choice by the individuals originally concerned.

PRESENTATION OF THE GENEALOGY

In order to include as much background as possible a one-page-per-family approach has been used. However, the additional Tylcoat line has made it impossible to maintain the strictly chronological page sequence of the 1994 pamphlet. The relevant continuation page numbers are cross-referenced in the text and, to supplement this, page 7 provides an overall key or generation index, by fathers of every direct line family. The vertical layout of each page is similar, in the order of Husband, Wife, Children (with their marriages), followed by Notes.

ABBREVIATIONS

These have been kept to a minimum and are largely self explanatory. They include:
ab = about, b = born, bap = baptised, m(or=) = marriage or parenthood, d = died. SVT = S V Talcott.

HUSBAND

John TALCOT 398
b ab 1470 location unknown.
d unknown, probably at Chilvers Coton, Nr Nuneaton, Warwickshire.
Known to have been alive and a "land holder" at Chilvers Coton in 1492/3.
The Court Rolls of the Prior of the Hospitaller Manor of St John at Chilvers Coton mention a Richard Tailcote and an Elizabeth Tailcote as being there in 1497/8 and a Robert Tailcote in 1505/6. These are thought likely, particularly Richard because of his probable descendants, to have been siblings of John. However, there is at least the possibility that Elizabeth could have been John's wife.

Possibly other children.

NOTES

Due to the very early date of this family we lack full documentary proof and there is considerable conjecture. We know that William 401 and Thomas 400 were brothers and that they had a brother John, who was probably John 399 as we have traced no other of his generation. Both John 399 and Henry 402 later lived in Colchester Essex and children of both men were involved in a pewter business there. John 399 is recorded as "Talcott of Warwickshire" in a 1634 Essex Visitation document. All of which lends considerable weight to John 399 and Henry 402 also being brothers, who came from Chilvers Coton. There is no proof that John 398 was their father but the forename is some indication because John seems to be the name of the eldest son for the next 4 generations and, again, no other John of his generation has been traced, in Warwickshire or anywhere else. Apart from John 399 being the eldest, the order of the children is unknown.

He is the "Talcott of Warwickshire" mentioned in the 1634 Essex Visitation document, whose forename, according to SVT, was later established as John.
He must have moved from Warwickshire to Colchester, possibly via Cambridge, where there was said to be a John Talcott, Doctor of Divinity, in 1537. However, if so, he did not obtain his doctorate at Cambridge because we have checked the records there.

SVT's research for his book missed Thomas 429's marriage and hence the survival of this branch of the English line, which he subsequently found out about in 1885, as described on Page 3. His book also omits Samuel and, in one instance, miss-spells Bigg as "Sigg". When writing in the church registers, which he did in Latin, Rev. Thomas always spelled the name as TALCOAT.

b ab 1590 Braintree, Essex.
d March 1660 Hartford, Connecticut, America.
Emigrated from England to Boston with his wife and first two children on the ship Lion in 1632. First settled in Newtown (later Cambridge) near Boston. Made a Freeman by the General Court at Boston. Later one of the founders of Hartford, Conn., where he had a mansion at the head of Main Street. One of the Chief Magistrates of the Colony. Became known as "The Worshipful Mr John Talcott". He founded the entire American Talcott line.

WIFE
Dorothy MOTT 596
bap 11.12.1606 Shalford, Essex.
Made Will 22.09.1669. d Feb 1670 at Hartford.

NOTES
The American line has not been continued beyond this page because it is covered in SVT's book and, after 1876, other sources.

Thomas TALCOAT 429 - FROM PAGE 14
b 23.05.1610.
bap 29.05.1610 St Mary at the Walls, Colchester.
Made Will 07.10.1672. Will proved 21.11.1672.
In 1652 he was recorded as being "Clerk to Mr John Wakering, Steward of the Manor of Lamarsh" (Essex). He lived and died at Feering, Essex.

WIFE m 12.08.1641 Great Tey, Essex.
Sarah NICHOLLS 435
b - probably at Coggeshall, Essex.
Daughter of Thomas Nicholls, Master Clothier, of Coggeshall, Essex.
She was a widow before she m Thomas, having previously been m to a Mr Porter.
Made Will Dec 1684 bur 18.12.1685 Nailstone, Leicestershire. Will proved 03.03.1686.
It seems that, after her husband died at Feering, Essex in 1672, she moved north to join one or more of her children and some of her late husband's distant relatives at Nailstone, Leicestershire - see notes below.

CHILDREN

Jeffrey TILECOAT 438
b - (date & location untraced).
d 1695 Newton Burgoland, Leicestershire.
bur 15.02.1695 Nailstone, Leicestershire.
Smallholder.
Executor of his mother's Will in 1686.

NOTES
It seems likely that, whilst his father was still alive at Feering in Essex, at least one of the children, Thomas, had already moved north to seek his fortune with, or close to, their distant relatives at Nailstone in Leicestershire. This is supported by the fact that Thomas married Frances Billings on 12.02.1673 at Newbold Verdon in Leicestershire, only about 3 months after his father's death in Essex. It is quite likely they had known each other for some time and that Thomas' inheritance made the marriage practical.
In view of Jeffrey's untraced birth date we cannot be certain of the order of the children.

Jonathan TAYLCOTE 534 - FROM PAGE 15
bap 08.01.1610 Nuneaton.
bur 14.05.1679 Saddington, Leicestershire.
He was a Tanner, like his father. In 1666 he is also recorded as one of the "overseers of the highways for the parish of Nuneaton".

b ab 1635, probably at Nuneaton.	|	)	TO PAGE 20
Lived at Saddington.	At least 4 children	)

NOTES
There were probably other children, particularly daughters, who have not been traced.
We lack proof of Jonathan 534's marriage but it seems almost certain that the "widdow Tayllcott" bur at Saddington in Feb 1685 was his wife.
We know that Jonathan 534 worked in Nuneaton but both he and his wife were buried at Saddington. The most likely explanation is that, later in life, they moved to Saddington, where their son Jonathan 541 was living and evidently had a flourishing business.

HUSBAND

NOTES
*John 551 above stayed at Saddington, Leicestershire but his son William 555 moved to Long Lawford, Warwickshire, near Rugby. All William 555's family were baptised at nearby Newbold on Avon, Warwichshire. Grandson William 1069 also raised a family at Long Lawford, again baptised at Newbold on Avon. This line then seems to disappear.

HUSBAND

NOTES
It may be interesting to note that Samuel 463's son Rev. Thomas Tylecote 582, mentioned above, married Elizabeth Fereday 587 who was 13th in direct descent from King Henry VII of England and great grand daughter to one of three co-heiresses to the Barony of Dudley, which fell into abeyance in 1757 but was revived in 1916 when the then King George V made one of her relations Lord Dudley. E F S (Sutton) Tylecote 807, who corresponded with SVT in America, was third son of Rev. Thomas and Elizabeth. Amongst other things, Sutton was a famous cricketer, who was on the original England Team of 1882/3 that first brought back "The Ashes" from Australia. Unfortunately neither he nor his siblings ever had any offspring.

NOTES
At this period, when a child died in infancy, it seems to have been quite usual to "replace it" by baptising a subsequent child with the same name.

COPY OF S. V. TALCOTT's LETTER TO SUTTON TYLECOTE OF 23.05.1887
(Evidencing their correspondence of over 100 years ago)

PAGE ONE:

Albany May 23/87

My dear Sir

I have mailed to day to your address the book you kindly sent me containing in manuscript the notes taken in searching the records for the Talcott genealogy - I have copied all of them and think I have made no serious mistakes although some parts were rather hard to decipher.

I have found no old postage stamps though at one time my children had collected some thousands several years since which they gave away - If I can find any among my friends I will try and get some for you.

I send you a pamphlet issued by a company in New York who make it a business to collect them for sale -

COPY OF S. V. TALCOTT's LETTER, continued:

I found in the "Roll of fines" vol 2 p 2
the name of "Philip Talecurtes" as owning land in Co. Sussex in 1246.
This I take it would a natural Roman way to spell the name of Talcot or very near it - "Talecurt" is about as near as any that has been handed down and the addition of the three letters gives a Latin sound.
Possibly something might be found in the old records of Co Sussex to corborate
this idea -
We have lately returned from our trip to Florida the heat at 84 to 88° being rather much for us. For a week past we have had the mercury
here up to 84 - 86°.
very truly yours
